SAY GERMANS' GUNNERY BEAT BRITISH BEST

U. S. Admiral Says Germans Turned British on Heads.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 26.—The Germans by their superior gunnery, "turned the British on their heads," at the battle of Jutland, Rear Admiral Plunkett declared today before the senate committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war.

Admiral Plunkett was testifying as to the need for keeping the navy personnel at full strength so that the men might be adequately trained. He did not go into details as to the Jutland battle and was asked no questions regarding it by the committee. The admiral, who commanded the great naval battery of 14-inch guns on the western front, was the fourth witness in the investigation of Rear Admiral Sims. He charges that the navy department failed to co-operate fully with the allies early in the war and all of his testimony was devoted to the matter of personnel.

Would Be Paying Germans.
He told the committee that the navy was without sufficient men when the war began.

"If we had been up against Germany at the outbreak of the war," he said, "we would have been paying indemnity today and all because we did not have the trained men."

"We didn't have the men because Mr. Daniels would not let us have them and wouldn't let us do anything to get them."

FLETCHER INQUIRY.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 26.—First evidences of friction at the headquarters of Rear Admiral B. Fletcher at Brest, came with the arrival there of Captain Thomas P. Magruder, commanding the Third Fleet of American craft sent to that port. Admiral Fletcher testified today before the navy board of inquiry investigating his removal from the Brest command by Rear Admiral Sims after the sinking of the transport Antilles in October, 1917.

Captain Magruder, Admiral Fletcher testified, had insisted that the Brest organization should be completely revised in line with the organization of naval district at home. Fletcher said he could see no need of this and offered to send Magruder to London to report his views to Admiral Sims, but that the officer did not wish to go.

"Did Captain Magruder support you loyally and carry out your orders?" Admiral Fletcher was asked.

"I cannot testify as to his having carried out my orders," Admiral Fletcher said. "I do not think he supported me loyally."

STILL RAP DANIELS.

Washington, March 26.—Charges that the navy department took steps to prevent reports from reaching the public regarding a shortage of personnel in the navy before the United States entered the war were made before the senate naval investigating committee today by Captain Joseph K. Taussig of the naval war college at Newport, R. I.

Captain Taussig, who was on duty at the navy department prior to the war and later served on destroyers overseas, said that Secretary Daniels in his annual report in 1914 stated that the numerical strength of the navy was adequate and in 1915 said that only an additional 10,000 men were needed, while the navy general board in its 1914 report had stated that 19,000 men were necessary.

The witness told the committee that the department's policy with regard to personnel was one of unpreparedness rather than preparedness, even when war with Germany "apparently was inevitable."

Italy to Transform Big Feudal Estates

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Rome, March 26.—The chamber of deputies today discussed a bill proposing to transform the large, almost feudal, estates in Sicily into modern holdings for intensive culture. The report on the bill, presented by deputies Pecoraro and Micheli, Catholics, and Vaccara, socialist, described the condition of Sicily agriculture as medieval and harrowing.

The estates worked by the peasants the report declares, were owned by millionaires, who never even visited their lands, simply pocketing the profits and spending them in Rome, Paris and Madrid.

Red Army Getting Nearer Black Sea

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Constantinople, March 26.—Delayed. The anti-Bolshevik army operating in the vicinity of Novorossisk, and moving southward in the Black Sea province towards Batum has established its capital at Sochi (Lakhovski), on the Black Sea about midway between Novorossisk and Batum) where a general committee is directing a so-called government.

Dispatches from Novorossisk indicate that the war torn refugees in this region are becoming reconciled to remaining in Russia even if the Bolsheviks should occupy Novorossisk. The allies, however, are removing those who, it is considered, would unquestionably be in danger of Bolshevik reprisals, transporting them to Theodosia in Crimea.

KIDNAPPED BOY FOUND IN ROOM OF HOTEL TODAY

Paul Little Held Prisoner There Since Wednesday.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Lexington, Ky., March 26.—Paul Little, 12 year old son of E. R. Littleton, Lexington capitalist, who has been held for ransom by kidnappers was found this morning locked in a room at a local hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Little first learned the whereabouts of their son when he telephoned his home from the telephone room. He said he had been kept a prisoner there since Wednesday night.

Investigation disclosed that the room had been reserved in advance by a man registered as J. C. Cox of Cincinnati. The parents hurried to the hotel and took him home.

Disappeared Wednesday

The boy disappeared from in front of the Lexington postoffice Wednesday afternoon where he had been seen in conversation with a man. Playmates said the Little boy had told them he was to be given a dollar to deliver a box of candy. Soon afterwards the father received a note stating that his son Paul was being held for ransom. Little would not state positively but intimated that the amount asked for was $25,000. At 7 o'clock this morning the key for the room in which the lad was found was turned in to the hotel desk. At 7:15 Mrs. Little called to the telephone, was overjoyed to hear the voice of her missing son. Nothing has been seen of the "Mr. Cox" since he left the hotel at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Catherine Sartain maid on the sixth floor of the hotel, said she had not been able to get into the room for two days or ever since the boy was kidnapped. She saw the man enter the room and gave a description of him. She said he was about five feet eight inches tall, weighing probably 170 or 175 pounds, rather rough looking and wore a brown suit of clothes and a soft, black, round hat. A sign was found in the room, printed like the letter to Mr. Little in which the demand for the $25,000 ransom was made. It bore the legend: "Do not disturb me; I am sick."

DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION PREDICT SUSPENSION OF WORK

Many Think Shut Down Will Be of Long Duration.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Peoria, Ill., March 26.—"There will undoubtedly be a suspension of work in the coal mines of Illinois April 1," Frank Farrington, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois, said here this morning.

"Understand it will not be a strike, but an unavoidable suspension of work. It may be for a short time or a long time."

"Our agreement expires at midnight, March 31," Farrington continued. "I believe it would be impossible to keep the men at work after that."

"It is possible, of course, that some sort of an agreement will be reached at the meeting in New York Monday to keep the mines running, but even at that a brief suspension of work will occur."

The feeling of delegates at the convention of the Illinois Mine Workers in session here is that the suspension will be of long, rather than brief duration. The convention devoted some of the time this morning to discussion of co-operative stores.

Disregard Charges.

Charges made by Frank Heffley regarding the election of Farrington which have caused considerable wrangling among delegates, were ignored by the convention which a vote was taken and the report as submitted by Farrington was accepted.

Rev. R. H. Gleason, American legion chaplain, spoke before the convention this morning. He was interrupted several times by delegates who asked the stand of the legion on various questions.

After Rev. Gleason's address in which he referred to the legion's stand for law and order, delegate John Hindmarsh of Riverport addressed the assembly. "Suppose we miners refuse to obey any anti-strike laws or injunctions such as that," he said. "We will stand by the American Legion take regarding defending law and order."

Got His Information.

"I cannot answer what action the Legion might take," Rev. Gleason replied. "But if you mean were the miners to resist the law by open rebellion, I'll tell you personally that I, as an individual would not hesitate in strapping a 45 to my side and stand ready to defend the United States."

"That what I wanted to know," Hindmarsh said.

Little Fellow Wants to Stay in Country Near Dixon.

Karl Niles, aged 13 years, of Chicago, was taken in custody by Chief Van Bibber yesterday afternoon, the lad having left his home to go out into the world to make a living for himself. According to his story, his foster parents notified him that he had reached the age when he could make a living for himself and ordered him to leave his home.

Karl is an exceptionally bright and intelligent lad for his years. He insists that he desires to be in the country and is not content to return to Chicago and to his foster parents. The boy ran away from his foster parents about two years ago and was picked up by Chief Van Bibber and returned home. He is an exceptionally bright and interesting little fellow and the mayor has become his closest friend.

PENN STUDENTS TOO BOISTEROUS IN CELEBRATION

Got in Bad with Police Over Their Victory Festivities.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Philadelphia, March 26.—Policemen from four station houses raided dormitories of the University of Pennsylvania early today after an outbreak of about 1000 students, in celebration of the Pennsylvania basketball victory over Chicago University.

Shots were fired at the policemen by the students. Twenty-two were arrested. They were given the option of spending ten days in jail or paying fines of $12.00 each.

When arraigned, some of the students were clad in pajamas, while others were barefooted. Frederick H. Strayer was the only one with a bandage on his head. He explained he was struck five minutes after arriving at the scene of the disturbance. Magistrate Harris declared it was a pity more of the students were not wearing bandages.

According to the police the celebration of victory was the most aggressive on the part of the students they had ever been called to quell. It lasted from 11 p. m. until four o'clock this morning, during most of which time the students pelted the blue coats from alleys and side streets and even threw clocks, water bottles and furniture out of the windows.

Allies Silent on Giving Troops O. K.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Paris, March 26.—The allies have not as yet given or refused permission for German regular troops to enter the allied zone of occupation or the neutral zone to the east established by the treaty of Versailles, according to semi-official information today.

What has been done by the allies, it is semi-officially stated, is to reach an agreement as to the guarantees to be demanded from Germany in case she desires to engage in military operations in the zones in question.

According to the same source there is no further question of inter-allied intervention in the Ruhr district and the impression prevails in official circles that there will be hesitation on the part of the Germans themselves to engage in operations there under the conditions the allies will impose.

Ruhr Situation Gradually Clearing

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Berlin, March 26.—Wesel, the besieged fortress northwest of the Ruhr coal basin, was still holding out today against the revolutionary working men, according to the Freiheit.

The situation in the Ruhr industrial region gradually is clearing, the newspaper says.

Wesel Still in Government Control

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Coblenz, March 25.—It was stated in German official sources tonight that Wesel, the government fortress northwest of the Ruhr region, besieged by a workers' army, was still in the hands of the government troops at 9 o'clock this evening although the fighting was heavy.

The government, officials declared, had definitely decided not to negotiate with the revolutionaries in the Ruhr region because of their violation of the armistice agreement Tuesday night and Wednesday. A counter attack by the Reichswehr was expected momentarily, it was said, the situation of the troops in Wesel meanwhile remaining critical.

In Berlin, it was announced, the situation was still unsettled.

Fighting Resumed Yesterday Morning

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Amsterdam, March 26.—Fighting at Wesel began yesterday morning when government troops sent to secure arms and the communists had agreed to surrender were fired upon with machine guns, says a Muenster dispatch to the Telegraf.

When communist forces occupied Dülmen, a town 25 miles east of Wesel, government troops holding the place retired without fighting, it is said.

Government forces at Wesel are strongly entrenched north of the Lippe river and are being constantly reinforced by armed farmers and bourgeois from towns nearby, the frontier correspondent of the Telegraf says. The Red army's trenches are but little over half a mile distant from those occupied by the defenders of Wesel, and are manned by about 6000 men. Casualties among the communists up till last night were about 60 dead and 190 wounded.

Workers Threaten to Destroy Property

By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, March 26.—Workers forces entrenched along the Lippe river, south and east of the city of Wesel, threaten, if they fail to capture Wesel, to destroy all factories and mines in western Germany, says a Berlin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. The Reds have established great headquarters, similar to that of the old German army and are issuing official statements.

In last night's communique the Reds claimed to have captured several villages and to have taken more than 200 prisoners during the day. They say the government troops in western Germany are not taking any action, pending orders from Berlin.

Telegrams from Muenster report severe engagements between government and communist troops on the line from Hamm south to Hagen. Further south in the direction of Cologne and Duesseldorf there has been fighting and serious conflicts have occurred at Wesel, Rucklinghaus and near Muenster as well as along the Lippe river.

Government Force Attacked Communists

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Buderich, Rhenish Prussia, March 25.—Ebert government troops still held Wesel across the Rhine, north of this city, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Fighting, which had been in progress during the day was seemingly dying away at that hour and although Wesel is under fire from artillery of the workers' army, the troops had succeeded in repelling all infantry attacks.

Today's battle opened when government troops attacked workers forces near the Wesel bridgehead. The regulars drove the Reds south across the Lippe River and southeast out of Lippe Schloess. Government artillery opened fire upon the workers' headquarters at Lipperdorf and partially destroyed them. Working southward from Lippe Schloess and eastward from Lipperdorf, the regulars began a double flank attack which swept the Reds back, they being forced to retreat. An armored train pushed along toward the bridge across the Lippe river about two and a half miles from Wesel and kept up a steady fire on the workers.

Corn Mart Showed Strength This A. M.

Chicago, March 26.—Strength developed in the corn market today owing to lack of any confirmation of rumors that the 200,000 bushel limit on trading was about to be put into force again. Wet weather and prospects that receipts would be light were also bullish factors. Demand, however, was mostly confined to shorts. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/4 cent decline to a like advance, with May 1.53 1/2 to 1.54 1/2 and July 1.48 1/2 to 1.49 1/2, were followed by substantial gains all around.

Oats were firmer with corn. After opening a shade off to 1/2 cent including July at 78 1/2 to 79 1/2, the market scored a moderate general advance. Lard and ribs reflected a rise in sterling and the strength of grain. Pork, however, lacked support.

Subsequently export demand for wheat and rye helped to rally the corn market after setbacks due to liquidation by small holders. The close was nervous 1/4 to 1/2 cent net higher, with May 1.56 1/2 to 1.56 3/4 and July 1.50 1/2 to 1.51 1/2.

NO CHANCE FOR BOUT BETWEEN CARPENTIER AND DEMPSEY IN 1920

French Champion Gained Host of Admirers with His Work.

New York, March 26.—There is no chance for a world's championship bout in 1920 between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, according to Tex Rickard, one of the foremost promoters for the contest. The French champion probably will not extend his present visit to the United States, Rickard said today, and he must return to Paris for a bout scheduled in August. This is sufficient to prevent his appearance against Dempsey this year, the promoter added, explaining that for the international bout to be a financial success it would have to be held in the open and as Carpentier will be busy until July he would have enough time to train before the arrival of cold weather.

DISPLAYED GREAT SPEED.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, March 26.—Georges Carpentier, champion European heavyweight boxer, gained a host of American admirers today by his display of speed and cleverness in an informal shirt-sleeve sparring exhibition with Major Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, of Philadelphia, before a thousand guests at a dinner of the International Sporting Club. It was the French boxer's first exhibition in this country and he was given a rousing ovation.

The "match" of two two-minute rounds was staged in a temporary ring erected in the center of the Hotel Commodore ballroom. Tex Rickard was referee. The boxers merely removed their coats, vests and collars. At the outset the Frenchman displayed lightning speed, his shifty footwork and feinting being very clever. Major Biddle, an amateur boxer of considerable ability, scarcely landed a blow, Carpentier ducking his swings easily.

No hard blows were struck by either boxer, according to agreement. Although the French fighter was not in action long, expert observers were convinced that he is one of the most resourceful fighters, especially on the defensive, that Europe has produced in years.

The midnight dinner brought together a throng of prominent men interested in athletics.

Perfection and Helena in Register of Merit

THIS pure bred Jersey owned by Albert H. Whitehead gave 202 pounds of fat in the Register of Merit test the first four months using the Perfection Milker. Mr. Whitehead says: "My cows are all in the Register of Merit and are now doing better milked with the Perfection than when milked by hand. The longer I use it, the better I like it. It enables me to milk the cows in half the time required by hand and the cows seem to enjoy the action and stand better than when hand milked. The downward squeeze and adjustments put the Perfection in a class by itself."

What Mr. Whitehead says about the Perfection is the true experience of many Perfection owners. Because the Perfection milks like the calf with a gentle suction followed by a downward squeeze. Dairymen like it and the cows like it.

Perfection Brings Comfort Into Dairy and Home
Not only will your cows be more satisfied with the Perfection, but you can get in to supper on time—your wife won't have to neglect her other work to help you finish up the milking; the children won't look forward to milking as a drudgery, but rather as a pleasure.

See Us About A Demonstration

Stop in at one of your neighbor's some night around milking time and watch the Perfection do its work, then come in and see us and we will be more than glad to explain the Perfection in detail and show how you can own one immediately. We are exclusive agents for this territory.

If you want to know why the Perfection Milker is the best on the market ask any of the following satisfied owners.

VISIT HERE ENDED—

(Contributed.)

Mrs. Arthur Cooper, of Carthage, Mo., left Tuesday night, the home of her sister, Dr. Garrison for the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Borden, Plains, Mont. Mrs. Cooper had expected to make a longer visit with her sister before making her home with her daughters, Miss Elizabeth Cooper, principal of the Gardner schools and Mrs. Borden. She was called by an accident to Mrs. Borden's four-year-old son, who was seriously scalded.

Martha Garrison Cooper was born two miles north of the Kingdom in Ogle county, Ill., where her father owned a saw and feed mill also a chair factory, one of whose products Dr. Garrison still cherishes. It was given by her father to her mother. It was one of her wedding presents. She was a cousin of Wilbur Crawford's mother. The old Garrison farm in Nachusa township was Mrs. Cooper's home until her marriage to Mr. Cooper in 1879 when they made their home in Missouri where he was a teacher until his death last September.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

(Copyright, 1910, N. E. A.)

The idea that dishes must be done immediately after every meal is tiresome and often inexpedient.

Very often the breakfast dishes may be done with the Friday morning baking dishes with a saving of five or ten minutes of time. Mornings when the silver is cleaned if the dishes and silver are both washed at one time a saving of time is again effected.

Every day there will be one time that it will be possible to do dishes with the least amount of wasted time if one will but plan a bit. One may even do two things at once, prepare luncheon and tidy up the kitchen.

Menu for Tomorrow.

BREAKFAST—Halves of grapefruit, waffles, syrup, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Shad roe and cucumber salad, rolls, mashed potato fried cakes, tea.

DINNER—Casserole of beef, baked potatoes, head lettuce salad with Russian dressing, fudge cake, canned peaches, coffee.

My Own Recipes.

With the coming of spring and maple syrup, waffles acquire a new charm. If several eggs are used in the making of this popular breakfast dish, waffles gain in nourishment. With the butter and syrup always served with waffles there is more actual food value offered in such a breakfast than is realized.

SHAD ROE AND CUCUMBER SALAD.

Shad roe.
1 cucumber.
French dressing.

Drop a shad roe into boiling salted water to which two tablespoons of vinegar has been added. Simmer slowly for 20 minutes. Drain and cool. When cold cut into cubes and let stand in French dressing for 30 minutes. Pare and slice cucumber. Arrange on a bed of lettuce. Put cubes of fish in center and add a tablespoonful of mayonnaise dressing.

MASHED POTATO FRIED CAKES.

1½ cups mashed potato.
1 cup sugar.
1 cup sweet milk.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 eggs.
3 teaspoons baking powder.

1 teaspoon vanilla.
½ teaspoon grated nutmeg.
½ teaspoon salt.
Flour to roll.
Beat eggs well. Mix ingredients in order given. Roll on a floured molding board to about one-half inch thickness, cut with doughnut cutter and fry in deep fat.

Whether you say spider or skillet or frying-pan makes little difference so long as you keep it well scoured. MARY.

Result Suffrage in Delaware in Doubt

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Dover, Del., March 26.—Plans for disposal of resolutions to ratify the woman suffrage constitutional amendment were uncertain when the Delaware legislature reconvened today. The struggle of suffrage workers and antagonists reached a climax, with the result in doubt.

Overnight gains in strength were claimed by the suffragists, but confidence of the opposition was indicated in plans of representatives McNabb, democratic leader in the house to call by the ratification resolutions immediately. Suffrage forces were prepared to filibuster against a vote.

ABANDONING FAITH.

In a western city recently a modern miracle man spent two brief days laying hands on the lame, the halt and the blind.

In the rain, through the packed street before the little church where he ministered, came a cripple, hunching along on his hands and withered limbs, a distorted figure as sodden and so hopeless as that cripple of old,
who was let down through the roof and set
at the Master's feet.

A picture that was of ancient significance,
a picture of the never dying faith of humanity in the divine.

Whether this particular cripple was healed or not is really not important; the big, fateful feature of such a scene, of such a zealous crowding of those who have nothing left but hope, is just this abiding faith that there is something without; something above that can help and save and heal.

Sometimes human beings get so submerged in envy and strife and contention that they lose sight of all but the unlovely attributes of their fellows, but deep within every man in the world today there is a secret spring of hope that gushes out and blesses him whenever the master touch smites the rock of his well-nigh petrified faith.

So long as the race can hope, so long as men can pray, so long as stubborn, halting men will come as little children to kneel at the shrine, so long is humanity, at heart, divine.

And when Christ rebuked the sceptics who demanded a miracle and told them that miracles were all about them if only they would look with the eyes of faith, Christ must have meant this eternal force of faith that lies at the roots of our being, and that in time of trial and affliction sustains us as on wings of flame.

HOUSE HUNTING

And then comes spring. And renters are on the move. And so if one knows some one who knows some one who thinks he may move, one is in luck. And he gets the name and address of the landlord and camps on his trail.

Yes, the tenant may move. The rent WAS $40, but it's to be $50 beginning April 1. Children? Land, no, one doesn't rent to families having children. It simply isn't done! No, one couldn't think of papering or painting
THIS spring. Maybe next, if prices come down. Uh-huh—six rooms and a bath. But one room is a four by six foot cubbyhole, maybe. Yes, strictly modern in every respect "except furnace." But, hah, hah, one does not care for a furnace in the summer, does one?

No children! What is going to become of the people in this world if renters are to be allowed no children? It isn't altogether the war that drove thousands to race suicide. It was the Damocles sword of having no place to lay their heads if they did have 'em. That's what.

But here's another side of the picture, presented by the agents for a swell apartment-house in Toledo, O.: "One month's rent free to the first parents in these apartments to have a baby born to them."

PROGRESS

Cambridge (Eng.) University botanists have announced that it is now possible to breed disease-proof plants. A special body of investigators who have been devoting themselves to plant breeding are engaged now in "immunizing" from plant diseases wheat, oats, barley, potatoes and roots, results of which are to be shown at an assembly of medical men this summer.

These "plant doctors" as they are called,
have already succeeded in breeding a new wheat known as "yeoman" which has yielded 96 bushels to the acre, three times an ordinary crop.

This report is encouraging. It shows that science is steadily and busily pursuing its course in the direction of neutralizing that "law of diminishing returns" which operates with all the earth's products necessary to the life and happiness of mankind. As fast as supplies of one kind of materials are exhausted or reach a low point, science comes forward with new materials, new expedients or developments of old ones which make possible the increased production of old materials, or the production of new substitute materials.

Europe has outgrown its ability to produce food. The World War, by dislocating all the delicate economic apparatus by which Europe exchanged its manufactured things for foodstuffs, has resulted in the semi-starvation of vast areas of Europe.

Now comes science with the hope that disease proof cereals and vegetables, producing a yield of three times the ordinary, may help to solve the food situation.

Humanity will solve its problems some way. The process is sometimes slow, many lives are lost because man does not know how to do things more efficiently, but steadily and slowly as the centuries pass, knowledge accumulates, science advances and makes possible a better material civilization.

RADICAL STRIKES

The coal miners' union in England voted in favor of a strike to compel the government to nationalize the mines. Did Englishmen shout anarchy and revolution? No. They put the matter before the National Trades Union Congress, representing all branches of organized labor. By a three to one vote the congress adopted a resolution opposing direct action and favoring only political agitation for the nationalization of basic industries.

If the miners strike, therefore, they must strike against trade unionism itself. That means certain defeat. England has thus solved the dangerous problem of how to check extreme radicalism among trades unions without interfering with labor's legiti-mate activities. The solution is neither by blood and iron nor by restraints at law.

England's method is to trust organized labor to correct its own excesses. Reforms forced upon trades from without will create rancor and a sullen spirit. Reforms from within can leave no such sting. This plan presupposes a sane, patriotic leadership among the workmen. It also presupposes that a headstrong group in a single industry will be unable to call upon the solidarity of labor to support its own radical policies.

England, which has a larger percentage of trades unionists than any other country in the world has recognized these facts. That is why Englishmen are content to let organized labor be its own policeman.

An African missionary reports that natives
do not use the ouija board. In other particulars, however, they show no unusual intelligence.

The unusual output of Russia's official Chinese killers leads to the supposition that they are paid on the piece-work basis.

Very likely Ebert's experience as a saddle maker taught him a few things about staying in one.

ADVENTURES
OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

A NEW FRIEND

Maudie Mule overtook the twins as they were hurrying along in their little green shoes. She was hurrying, too, but stopped and asked if she couldn't give them a lift on her back.
"Our shoes are magical and we aren't tired," explained Nancy, thanking her, but, as Nick said, "Aride is a ride," so they scrambled on by climbing to the top of a fence that ran beside the road.
"Are you going to Singing School too?" asked Maudie.
"No, we're hunting for our toy monkey that ran away," they explained.
"We thought perhaps he came here to Topsy Turvy Land because he wasn't satisfied at home."

"Couldn't he sing, either?" asked their new friend. "If such as the case, he certainly has fair sympathy."

Nancy laughed. "Mercy no! He couldn't sing. I don't believe he ever severe."

tried. But he could squeak if you pushed on a spring in his chest."
"I'm afraid then he has no ambition?" said Maudie trotting faster. "Do you happen to know the time? I'm afraid I'll be late."
"It's a quarter to three," said the Magical Mushroom, popping out of Nancy's pocket.

"Then I am late," she declared, breaking into a run. "Mr. Skylark will be perfectly furious, for he's very particular about his engagements."
"It's all our fault, so we'll tell him not to scold," promised Nick, holding on tight. "Is he giving a party?"

"No, just teaching. He's got the best Conservatory of Music here, and I'm having lessons. If you like you may stay and hear me sing. I'm sure Mr.
Skylark wouldn't mind. He's quite proud of the improvement he's made in my voice. I am too. I'm thinking now of having phonograph records made and selling them for $5 each. It's a much nicer way of earning a living than hauling bricks. That's always been my profession before."

COMETS OF HUMOR

Away off in the void to which jokes go when they are not here, along with the wind when it isn't blowing, is this one, which, to make an evening paper
holiday, we bring back before its time:

Little Emma had begun to study physiology and her teacher had lectured forcefully against the evils of alcohol. So Emma was perturbed when elder appeared at the family table.

"Cider," she proclaimed promptly,
"is bad for us. Teacher says it contains 10 per cent of alcohol."

"Well," said her father, "how do you account for the fact that old Mr.
Franklin, who lived next door, lived to be 94, though he drank a great deal of cider?"

It looked bad for Emma's cause, but she advanced excitedly to its defense:
"Well, I'll, I'll—I'll bet he wasn't very healthy when he died."

"Cider," she proclaimed promptly
"is bad for us."

THE POLLYANIC SCHOOL.

Ah, true it is for fourteen days, the Widow Jenkins' brood
(She and her seven children) have not fasted human food.
And 'tis said that they are naked, which is very nearly nude.
But should that dispel our laughter? Should our spirits be subdued?
No, let us sing some jocund song, whose melody repeats!

Let us cease our vain repining,
And remember someone's dining:
Somewhere someone's eating something—at the Waldorf or the Ritz.

It is true that William Wooser never earned an honest meal;
It is true it was his daily wont to lie and cheat and steal;
It is true he jumped on babies and rejoiced to hear them squeal;
And sold his father's corpse to buy his dog a piece of veal.
Well, maybe it was wrong to violate his father's hearse,
But he is your human brother.

And 'tis said he had a mother;
Yes, reflect! he had a mother—and they do say she was worse.

Poor, gentle Jenny Josslin has a cancer of the breast,
But do you think her kith and kin are visibly depressed?
Nay, nay, for well they know that one should never be distressed
And that everything which happens happens only for the best While Jenny lives is there not hope that she is yet alive?

And remember, while she suffers
There are hoaps of human sufferers
Who are drinking lemon extract and will probably survive.

O, we need the call for courage and the optimistic note,
But when the smitten heart leaps up and clutches at the throat
And some moon-faced monomaniac chirps his "cheerful" antidote,
In the vigorous vernacular, I own it "gets my goat!"
O, relieve me of his drivel and commit him and his drool
To some Palace of Detention

Just outside the fourth dimension,
Where the wards are full of people of the Pollyanic school.

DOG BITES.

Not all dogs bite because they are rabid (mad), but since rabies is becoming more common, this dread disease should always be borne in mind. Unprovoked biting should be especially regarded with suspicion.

Not all persons bitten by a rabid dog develop rabies, for the clothing may wipe off the poison, or prompt cleansing and cauterization of the wound may prevent infection. But when rabies does develop it is almost invariably fatal.

In all cases of suspected rabies, in an animal or man, a doctor should be called at once, and the health officer notified. The wound should be allowed to bleed freely and then cauterized with concentrated nitric acid. The suspected animal, either dead or alive, should then be turned over to the health officer for observation and examination.

Confessions of a Bride
(Copyright 1920, by The Newspaper Enterprise Association)

It required but the touch of a finger to set off the hoard of munitions in the loft of the adobe storehouse, nevertheless it took all the force I could put into my thin white hand to turn on the current. As soon as the deed was accomplished, I came out of my delirium. It was as if the will power which had carried my sick body on its awful mission had at last cleared
my troubled brain.

I came out of my delirium to find myself saying, "In ten minutes—"
and I was astonished to find myself standing at the door of the haunted room.
However, it did not astonish me to see the ghostly figure of a woman moving slowly through the moonlight spaces of the place.

I trembled with weakness, I shivered with the cold of a bright December night as I clung to the handrail of the outside stairway and watched the willowy, white form of the murdered wife glide toward a window.

"Delirious or sane, I'm not to be deceived a second time by the same old ghost," I said to myself. "In ten minutes, this building will blow up, and that poor ghost is going to be robbed of a habitation," I added, "In ten minutes—"

And then I realized for the first time that unless I got away from that doomed building at once, I, Jane Lorimer, would be—in ten minutes—even as that white deceiving shade!

I clutched at the handrail and tried to descend the stairs which I had lately climbed so swiftly. But my muscles were as soft as those of an infant and my body collapsed in a heap on the steps.

"In ten minutes, I will know all that that poor wondering ghost knows,"
I thought, but I was quite unafraid of the prospect.

What would happen to me after the horrible roar of the explosion?
Where would I be?

Far—very far—from my dear husband!

That thought hurt me, and roused me. Bob would miss me. Bob would need me. I tried to call his name but not a sound left my lips. Though I hadn't the strength to speak, my hearing had grown acute. Listening for the explosion, I caught the hurrying feet on the pavement of the patio. I hoped—I prayed that nobody was coming near the doomed building, but I couldn't even whisper a warning.

Half of the ten minutes of waiting was gone, I felt sure. I opened my eyes and looked up at a glorious star which hung in the zenith.

"This is a queer place for a nice, conventional, much adorned, properly cared for, and perfectly respectable girl to die, isn't it?" I asked the star. But I didn't want sympathy. I didn't feel sorry for myself as a young girl about to die is supposed to feel. I grieved for Bob's grief for me!

As death came closer, second by second, I thought of the thousands and thousands of soldiers who had died in the war—alone—and unnoticed except by the cold stars above them. They had been loved and tended by devoted women, in their time, but at the end they had gone out, unwatched, even as I was so soon to do. And they hadn't been afraid! I could tell from my own feelings! They had been sorry for the loving woman they left behind to grieve just as I was sorry for my husband.

The echoing steps came nearer. I tried to cry out a warning. "Stay away! Stay away!" I wanted to shriek, but my lips were stiff and refused to shape the words. I clutched at the handrail, but not by an inch could I raise myself from the cold steps.

"Horrible! Horrible! Somebody else is going to die with me! I've always been so wilful. Even in the delirium of fever, I did what I had planned to do! And I've brought a dreadful death to some innocent—"

Suddenly strong arms seized me. I knew the feel of them. After one warning gesture in which I tried to tell him of our danger, I lay quite still close to my husband's heart.

ANSWERED.

Q. 1—What are the causes of catarrh?

2—If parents and grandparents were afflicted would it render me more susceptible?

3—Is it a germ disease?

4—Can it be cured by blood tonics or other medicines supposed to act
through the blood?

5—Can it be better treated by local applications like ointments, atomizers, sprays, etc.?

6—What medicine would you recommend for use in the atomizer?

A. 1—The cause of "catarrh" are varied. In most instances there is a chronic inflammation of the nasal passages and of the hollow bony spaces connected with these passages. So long as this inflammation persists the symptoms of catarrh are present.

2—Influence of heredity in this condition is still undetermined.

3—Primarily it is a germ disease.

4—The use of "blood tonics" and
other medicines supposed to act
through the blood, is sometimes of benefit, but in the majority of instances local treatment, often by operative means, is indicated.

5—The local applications of sprays, ointments and the like is of value in relieving the symptoms, but often quite without influence on the underlying cause.

6—Under the circumstances it is unwise to recommend any particular local application for use in an atom-izer. You should rather consult some nose and throat specialist, have him determine the cause of the trouble if possible, and submit to the proper treatment.

Why is a Thermometer?

Did you ever wonder what happened
when the mercury climbs in the glass tube of the thermometer on the back porch?

With one or two exceptions, metals
expand when they become heated.
Mercury, or quicksilver, is a metal as well as a fluid.

In the thermometer the mercury is sealed in a bulb at the bottom. The tube above the bulb is very small—smaller sometimes than a hair.

Thus the slightest movement of the mercury in the bulb will force the mercury in the tube a great distance.

When the air around the thermometer grows warm the mercury in the bulb expands and shoves part of itself up the tube. The tube is made thick so that part of it will act as a magnifying glass so that you can see the tiny column of mercury within.

The best thermometers are those with the largest bulbs and the smallest tubes. The larger the surface of bulb the quicker the action of the instrument and the smaller the bore of the tube the less expansion or contraction necessary to cause a movement in the bulb to show in the tube.

Clinical thermometers, used by physicians, are very delicately made, and the calibration, or correction of the scale, has to be carefully done. The slightest difference in the size of the tube along its length will make a difference in the reading. The expansion of the glass also has to be taken into account.

BENSON SAYS LAND IN THIS VICINITY IS GOING UP AGAIN

Dixon Land Man Expects Boom in Farm Prices During Year.

There is more money in circulation than ever before, with $120,000,000.00 more in the U. S. Treasury. Business is better every day, and one feature that should not be overlooked is the land boom which is about to start. There are several sound reasons why land in Illinois is due for a boom in price, says Frank Benson, Dixon realty dealer.

Western land is higher in price than eastern farms. Even in Iowa land is selling for as high as $700 an acre and it is almost impossible to get anything in the way of improvement farms in Iowa for less than $300 per acre, while in Illinois we still have some very good improved farms that can be bought for $200 an acre and up. There are good prospects for Illinois and local people should take advantage of these opportunities and get in before the advance that is sure to come.

The "Flu" epidemic started at the Atlantic coast and went west. The Land Boom started on the Pacific coast and is going east.

People Eager For Land.

There were many faint-hearted people in this country who expected to see a panic in March 1, this year, and they thought that farmers and investors would be unable to settle for the large amount of land that was bought by them during 1919, but on March 1st there were very few deals to be closed because most of the purchasers had been more interested in getting their land than in defaulting contracts and the majority of the deals had been closed before the first of March. These buyers were far-sighted.

Walking Under Difficulties

"Believe me, I suffered from stomach and bowel trouble right. This weakened me so that I could scarcely walk. I could do no work. This was my condition when I started taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy on the advice of a friend. Now I am working every day and feel better than I ever did in my life. It is the only medicine that ever touched me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists everywhere.

ed enough to force the advance in land prices that is due for 1920.

Cheap Land Scarce.

Farm lands that were sold last year in Lee county especially, have advanced from $75 to $150 per acre and there is very little so-called cheap land left in Lee county. Still, there is plenty of land that is a good investment because Illinois land has not by any means reached the limit of its price.

Western Land High.

In the state of California, where no corn is raised to speak of, land sells as high as from $2,500 to $4,000 per acre. Some of this is under irrigation and some is yet to be irrigated and the buyer must pay for the water rights, which amount is considerable. In Illinois our general rains furnish adequate irrigation, we are close to the large markets of the world, in the center of the corn and dairy belt and our land prices are much lower, with many advantages for the farmer.

Now it is up to the farmer to take advantage of the few farms that can still be bought at the low price but you are advised to buy early. In 1919 a total of 34 farm sales was transacted by Frank Benson. These farms aggregated a selling price of one million, ninety-seven thousand dollars. The farms were nearly all sold for March settlement but when that date arrived most of the deals had already been closed.

We Mean It!

For about four months this bank has been urging the farmers hereabouts to read THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. We have done it because we believe in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. This Great National Farm Weekly offers actual money-making helps to those farmers who read it regularly and follow its advice. Its subscribers have in the main become the most prosperous farmers in their counties the Nation over. And that is why we should like to see it in every farm home in our county. We mean it when we say: Read

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

In a recent investigation among farmers the question was asked: "What helps you most?" One-third answered: "My farm paper." They were able to put a dollars-and-cents value on the advice they read. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is National—broad enough to cover the United States and give a Nation-wide viewpoint; and at the same time it is local enough to treat of methods and practices section by section. Subscribe for a year! It will cost you $1.00 for 52 big weekly issues—and many a farmer has profited $100.00 from hints in a single issue. If you say so we'll charge your account $1.00 and see that your subscription begins at once. We mean it!

ELKS MINSTRELS
CLOSED SEASON
WITH A BANQUET

Belief That Actors
Never Eat Was Refuted.

Actors, both "ham" and "star", black face comedians, and men de luxe, former blushing blondes and gushing brunettes and refined matrons, comprising the personnel of the 1920 Elks' Minstrel company, gathered in the dining room at the club house last evening and enjoyed a sumptuous supper, served by the house committee at 6:30. Almost every member of the company was present and a most enjoyable time was had by all.

Following the serving of the repast, Manager "Flo" Charles Miller officiated as toastmaster and some highly interesting remarks were heard from old and new members of the cast. "Big Casino" Ford, "Choppy" Rosbrook, "Bright Eyes" Evans, "Duke" Sterling, "Curt" Rice and Interlocutor Mart Gannon were heard from. Director "Stormy" Holdridge was called upon to give the bunch a last "going over" for the season and qualified as in years past. As a token of the high esteem in which he is held by the members of the chorus, he was presented with a beautiful silver mounted baton, a present from the members of the company. The evening was a most enjoyable one and following the impromptu program in the dining room, cards and billiards were enjoyed for the remainder of the evening.

that it is getting difficult to find anyone who has the courage to face the gang. The Skyplots started out to play a fast and furious game and took the first session 15-6, but in the second round the Pillrollers came back with a little bit more speed winning 15-11. After a lot of fighting and argument, that was real interesting to the spectators the Pillrollers took the final game 15-10. An interesting feature of the match was the fact that counting total points each team scored 36.

SATURDAY, MARCH 27

Sugar is not accumulating and the stocks at present in the hands of jobbers or retailers are lower than usual at this season of the year. The refiners are sold several months ahead and the trade is absorbing it as fast as marketed. If this condition exists during the dull Sugar season, how can you expect to get it during the canning season? We do not know if it will be lower or not before the scarcity arrives but it certainly will not be much, if any. We believe the time to buy for canning is NOW—while it can be had.

EASTER FASHIONS

Depicting Spring's Most Charming Modes

Of course you will want to venture out Easter morning in modish new apparel; everyone does. And here in our comprehensive displays you will find stunning wearables in varieties that leave nothing to be desired. All the newest colorings, fabrics and the most favored styles are present now. They will more than meet your requirements as to style, quality and service.

Listed below are a few of our Easter offerings notable for their attractiveness and desirability.

One of the most attractive coat models that this season has produced is the coat of "deer" colored Polo cloth; its collar is large, a very popular style detail, and a box pleat gives its back a very trim effect. Other interesting features are the larger pockets, the wide self belt. A very excellent value at $65.00; other models, $25.00 to $35.00.

Just the thing for those days when you don't want to wear a wrap is this chic all-wool jersey dress, a very charming vestee or the straight model with braid trimmings. Also serge and tricot models are shown in a pleasing variety of models. $25.00, $35.00, $39.50.

You will never tire of this beautifully tailored suit of fine quality serge. A very modish Tuxedo front. Narrow belt of fancy leather and the full flare stamp it as ultra-fashionable and most desirable at $65.00. Tan and navy. Other models for less.

For sports wear there is nothing like the jersey suit at $35. We have a particularly effective style in blue or heather tone, as you prefer. The pockets are set in. You will like its narrow belt, slat seam back and coat collar, too. It won't prove too hot in warm weather; its unlined. $35.00 and up.

If you prefer a coat of very light Summer or Spring weight, we have a number of styles you'll surely admire and want. They are poplin, sport tweed in a variety of colors; navy, tan, grotto blue, string and a number of new shades at $29.50; all sizes.

Woolen skirts are very practical additions to Easter wardrobes and we have assembled a very pleasing assortment of Spring models of plaid, box and accordion pleated styles; also silk poplin in a variety of colors and styles. $12.50, $18.00 to $37.50.

Side panniers give the desirable width to these taffeta frocks. Some are all braided in gold and self colored braids; others are trimmed in velvet ribbon bands, stylishly finished with sashes, cords, etc. They are ideal models for afternoon or church wear. You will agree, when you see them, that $29.50, $37.50 and $59.00 is very reasonable for these quality dresses.

THIS WILL INTEREST STOMACH SUFFERERS

Says Indigestion comes from an excess of hydrochloric acid.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are stomach—acid and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

EASTER FASHIONS

Depicting Spring's Most Charming Modes

Of course you will want to venture out Easter morning in modish new apparel; everyone does. And here in our comprehensive displays you will find stunning wearables in varieties that leave nothing to be desired. All the newest colorings, fabrics and the most favored styles are present now. They will more than meet your requirements as to style, quality and service.

Listed below are a few of our Easter offerings notable for their attractiveness and desirability.

One of the most attractive coat models that this season has produced is the coat of "deer" colored Polo cloth; its collar is large, a very popular style detail, and a box pleat gives its back a very trim effect. Other interesting features are the larger pockets, the wide self belt. A very excellent value at $65.00; other models, $25.00 to $35.00.

Just the thing for those days when you don't want to wear a wrap is this chic all-wool jersey dress, a very charming vestee or the straight model with braid trimmings. Also serge and tricotine models are shown in a pleasing variety of models. $25.00, $35.00, $39.50.

You will never tire of this beautifully tailored suit of fine quality serge. A very modish Tuxedo front. Narrow belt of fancy leather and the full flare stamp it as ultra-fashionable and most desirable at $65.00. Tan and navy. Other models for less.

For sports wear there is nothing like the jersey suit at $35. We have a particularly effective style in blue or heather tone, as you prefer. The pockets are set in. You will like its narrow belt, slat seam back and coat collar, too. It won't prove too hot in warm weather; its unlined. $35.00 and up.

If you prefer a coat of very light Summer or Spring weight, we have a number of styles you'll surely admire and want. They are poplin, sport tweed in a variety of colors; navy, tan, grotto blue, string and a number of new shades at $29.50; all sizes.

Side panniers give the desirable width to these taffeta frocks. Some are all braided in gold and self colored braids; others are trimmed in velvet ribbon bands, stylishly finished with sashes, cords, etc. They are ideal models for afternoon or church wear. You will agree, when you see them, that $29.50, $37.50 and $59.00 is very reasonable for these quality dresses.

Woolen skirts are very practical additions to Easter wardrobes and we have assembled a very pleasing assortment of Spring models of plaid, box and accordant pleated styles; also silk poplin in a variety of colors and styles. $12.50, $18.00 to $37.50.

Wear any of these distinctive blouses featured in our display with these attractive skirts and you will have a very effective and thoroughly fashionable Easter costume. All the soft shades of pink, flesh, gray, ivory and the navy, brown and copen—beads, embroidery and dainty laces form the unusual trim. $6.75, $10.00 to $25.00.

Sugar is not accumulating and the stocks at present in the hands of jobbers or retailers are lower than usual at this season of the year. The refiners are sold several months ahead and the trade is absorbing it as fast as marketed. If this condition exists during the dull Sugar season, how can you expect to get it during the canning season? We do not know if it will be lower or not before the scarcity arrives but it certainly will not be much, if any. We believe the time to buy for canning is NOW—while it can be had.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED--AND EARNED

INDECISION. CHAPTER 95.

I did think over what Mary had said. I tried to look at it from every angle. And I tried to put my personal feelings out of the question—my feelings as regarded earning money, my independence, and my love of good clothes. The hardest of all to battle was the loss of independence. It isn't easy for a girl who has always had her own pay envelope to give it up—even for love.

I had earned my living so long before I married Robert, I had been accustomed to my own money, to do with it as I pleased, how could I endure to ask him for what I needed?

Each time this thought came, I felt sure I could not give up my position, that I absolutely could not be dependent upon anyone, even Robert. I recalled all the stories I had heard or read of women who had to ask their husbands for every cent they spent; and how it was given grudgingly often, or an accounting required.

"That would be awful!" I said to myself. "Think of saying to Robert, I want a dollar for this or that. It would be unbearable.

I did not think that Robert would ask me what I had done with money; he might give me, but we would have so little I wouldn't feel I could take it without telling him what I needed it for.

If anyone thinks I had an easy problem, I wish I might put them in the same position. I had earned more than Robert, so had no hesitancy in indulging myself occasionally in little extravagances that would be out of the question if I stopped work-

"Of course I am worth having, Gardner Kenyon! I am surprised that you ever had any doubts on the subject."

"That's right, Gerry, give it to him. I used to be a bit jealous of you, Gardner. Gerry sang your praise too loudly to suit me. But I'll forgive you, seeing you are going to marry Mary," Robert said in a joking tone, but making me flush a little. It never had entered my head that he was, or would be jealous of Gardner. But I remembered I used to praise him, call him "clever" and so forth.

"You people will be quarrelling if I don't take Gardner away," Mary said. But I must remember I am a poor working girl and need my sleep.

Just before she said good-night, Mary whispered:

"Madame said today you would be back next week."

"Did she?"

"Yes. Are you coming back, Gerry? All the girls will be glad to see you," her tone was very queer.

"I'm not thinking of the girls Mary. I am thinking of Robert—and myself."

"Then you haven't decided?"

"No."

"Come along, Mary! I thought you were in a hurry," Gardner took her arm and hurried her away.

Tomorrow—Gerry Makes Up Her Mind.
